

Abstract of the Disclosure

Plant transformation media containing lipoic acid has been found to improve the efficiency of transformation or regeneration. Methods of using lipoic acid in the transformation of tomato, potato, soybean, wheat, and cotton are particularly described.